

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Disclosed is a washing machine and cabinet thereof, which prevents a stress from being concentrated on the cabinet while the washing machine operates. The present invention includes a washing tub having an inner tub rotatably installed to hold a laundry for washing
5 and an outer tub holding the inner tub, a drive means for rotating the inner tub, a body holding the washing tub and the drive means inside, and a front panel in front of the body to have a plurality of notch recesses for preventing stress concentration to improve a rigidity. And, the body includes a base plate at a bottom of the body, a pair of side panels on both sides of the base plate, a rear panel in rear of the base plate and the side panels, and a top panel on the side
10 panels and the rear panel.